COURSE OBJECTIVES

A one day meeting intended to provide an overview on the current management of shoulder trauma. It will address the problems encountered in everyday management of fractures around the shoulder and provide delegates the opportunity to share the views and experience of leaders in the field.

The course is aimed at all Orthopaedic Surgeons having an interest in managing shoulder trauma. The course will be in the form of interactive lectures with tips on practical management by experts in the field. There will be ample time for discussions and addressing problems and pitfalls encountered in practical management.

Responding to feedback received from our previous meetings, 1.5 hours have been devoted for workshops.
